

Looking down; looking up

Appearing from the grey and white
Vapour trails against the burning blue
Imagining those enjoying the flight
Looking down on me looking up at you

Watching the earth pass by beneath
Meandering rivers flowing out to sea
Patchwork fields and scrubby heath
Looking down on you looking up at me

Wondering at your journeys end
Which continent you're heading to
From this land you love; farewell I send
Looking down on me looking up at you

Sound of engines fading
As you're talking, eating or sipping tea
Thinking of the place you'll be landing
As I watch you disappear Into infinity

© Richard Howell