

Raining Cats and Dogs

The broly went up, down plopped a pup then another, another, another I looked to the sky, I thought my oh my!
when down from above fell the mother

I stared disbelieving and looked up on high I saw a St Bernard and thought I might die
The puppies were pouring, they pooled at my feet then fell in the gutter and ran down the street

The cats were cascading, they fell on all fours
It was quite cataclysmic, a downpour of claws Exposed to the torrent, my broly was shredded
I was hit by a Great Dane and felt quite light-headed

There were puddles of poodles, wet labradoodles, bulldogs and boxers and cats, there were oodles A great flood of felines, a deluge of dogs
The low cloud descended and turned into fog

Yes, it got very murky, it got a bit foggy with no room between all the dogs and the moggies dodging the dogs was so stressful and scary, it was wet, it was cold and incredibly hairy

It started to Spot 'til at last came a paws Next time it happens, I'll just stay indoors

© Sandra Robinson